ADVOCATES SCHEME OF REGIONAL PACTS IN EASTERN EUROPE

Chancellor of the Exchequer Explains British Government's View—Anthony Eden Outlines Cardinal Aims of Foreign Policy—Churchill Urges Strengthening of League

LONDON, Nov. 5 (P).—Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, tonight advanced his scheme for regional pacts "to help maintain peace in those portions of the world most subject to stress and strain."

Winding up a debate on foreign affairs in the House of Commons, the Chancellor said the Government would like to see negotiated an Eastern European pact similar to the proposed Western agreement.

Britain was not prepared to participate in such an Eastern pact, but that, Mr. Chamberlain added, did not mean Britain would give a free hand to any other country to do what it liked, or would undertake not to interfere in any circumstances.

He declared Britain would keep a free hand to consider the circumstances of any case, but would confine her actual obligations to those regional pacts which concerned her vital interests.

CARDINAL AIMS
Foreign Secretary Eden launched the debate, declaring the cardinal aims of British foreign policy to be: (1) strengthening the authority of the League; (2) negotiation of a European settlement; (3) re-equipping of British defences.

STRANGE WILL BEFORE COURTS

Judge to Decide to Whom Money Shall Be Paid, If at All

TORONTO, Nov. 5 (P).—The Miller will, that strange document that started a child-bearing race for a $500,000 prize ten years ago, will move into the courts tomorrow for legal dissection.

Learned lawyers will make technical submissions and the hue and cry raised by nearly a score of mother marathons will be silenced down to court phraseology for the benefit of Mr. Justice, W. E. Middleton.

General opinion is judgment will be reserved on the entire situation. Distasteful relatives seek to upset it.

MERELY STAKEHOLDERS
The executors are not interested. They are merely stakeholders, and as such desire to learn to whom the fortune is to be paid. They ask the court to determine if the "stork Derby" clause is valid or if it is invalid, and in either case to whom the money shall be paid.

GOVERNMENTAL ACTION
A move by the Ontario Government has added another angle to the complicated case. Legislative action to protect the children has been hinted, but a general policy of meeting the situation as they arise has been the only announcement so far.

ARGENTINE SHIP FIRES ON PLANE

Spanish Insurgent Bombs Fall Dangerously Close to War Vessel at Alicante

ALICANTE, Spain, Nov. 5 (P).—The Argentine cruiser Veintimayo de Mayo opened fire today on two insurgent planes which dropped bombs dangerously close to the warship.

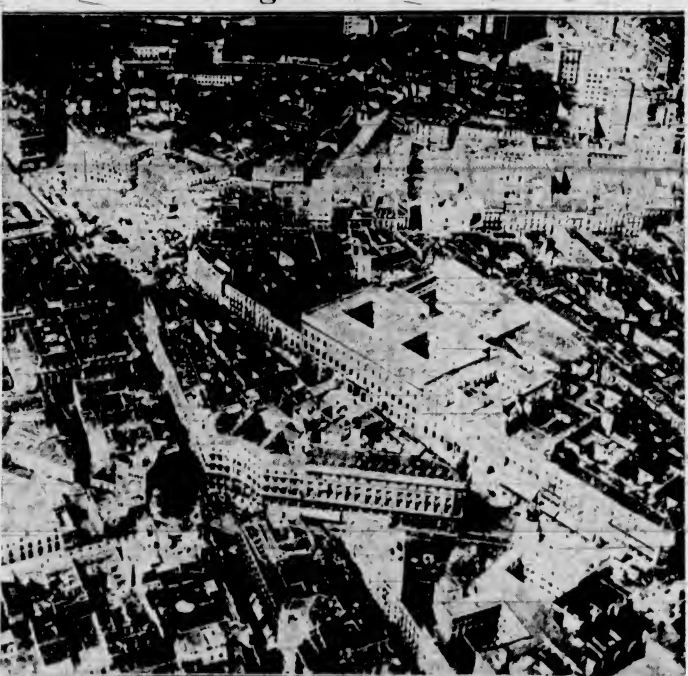

One of the bombs struck the Spanish steamer Olanio, killing a sailor. Another fell in the Central Square of this government-held port, partially wrecking the Hispano-Americano Bank and killing the night watchman.

Two bombs near the 830-ton Veintimayo de Mayo, which promptly trained its anti-aircraft batteries against the insurgent craft and fired warning shots.

His Majesty Plans to Visit Canada Soon After His Coronation

A BOARD SS. EMPRESS OF BRITAIN, Nov. 5 (CP-By wireless).—King Edward VIII is planning a visit to Canada soon after his coronation next May, Prime Minister King stated tonight as he came back from a European visit.

The Prime Minister said the King was looking forward to a visit to Canada as soon as possible after his trip to India, planned for almost immediately after the May coronation.

Mr. King said no more about the monarch's proposed visit to the Dominion. It was the first official indication King Edward expected to visit this country next year.

Potato Marketing Is Challenged on Floor of Assembly

Members Told One British Columbia Grower Received 22.23c Per Sack of Tubers Last April—Board Accounting and Cheques Shown

AFFAIRS of the British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board were precipitated into the British Columbia Legislature yesterday, to be laid on the doorstep of the administration after a brief but sharp exchange between E. D. Barrow (Lib., Chilliwack), and Harold E. Winch (C.C.F., Vancouver East).

Mr. Winch, who had been critical of board orders, was challenged to prove and did so, that a British Columbia potato grower received $7.8 from the board in payment for twenty-six sacks of potatoes on April 20.

WHAT GROWER GOT
This settlement, working out at 22.23 cents per sackful of potatoes, was achieved by the board, said Mr. Winch, in the following accounting, duly rendered: Twenty-six sacks at 95 cents, $24.70; less sundry charges of $11.12, $13.58 for cartage; $1.87 for sacks, $4.09 for regrading and re-sacking; deducting $7.80 for the total increase, $102.99, making an average gain of $23.27, or 22.23 per cent.

REVENUES TAKEN HERE SHOW GAIN
Customs and Excise Collections for Port of Victoria Increase Substantially

Customs and excise revenues for the Port of Victoria, according to figures released by Collector of Customs and Excise G. A. Yardley, yesterday, October showed a very considerable increase over the same month a year ago. For October, 1935, the total was $190,541.08, as compared with $149,906.35, a gain of $40,634.73.

Comparing the first seven months of the current fiscal year for the same period of the last fiscal year, the figures show that from April 1 to October 30, 1936, revenues amounted to $1,024,754.63, as against $861,895.30 for the seven months from April 1 to October 30, 1935. Total increase, $162,859.33, making an average gain of $23.27, or 22.23 per cent.

FOR NEW MILITIA
VIENNA, Nov. 5 (P).—The Austrian Government today named local commanders for a new "industrial militia" to take the place of the disbanded privately owned armies such as the Heimwehr.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (P).—Presidential candidates of the five minor United States parties accounted for less than 1,000,000 of the 41,872,227 votes tabulated tonight in 107,354 of the 127,772 election districts.

Available returns gave William Leake (Union Party), 629,071; Norman Thomas (Socialist), 100,567; Earl Browder (Communist), 51,855; J. W. Aiken (Socialist-Labor), 4,666; D. L. Colvin (Prohibition), 8,748.

INSURGENT TROOPS POISED FOR LAST ASSAULT AGAINST MADRID

Quebec Legislature Again Refuses to Enfranchise Women

QUEBEC, Nov. 5 (P).—Hopes of Quebec's women to secure the right to vote in provincial elections, a fight they have waged annually for years, were again dashed tonight when the Quebec Legislature, on a standing vote, dismissed the amendment to the provincial election law which would have given women the franchise.

Penalty to Bein Ratio To Income

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (P).—Germans will pay fines proportionate to their pocketbooks under a new penal code disclosed today by Minister of Justice Franz Guertner and legal experts.

The code is based on the theory fines should not be absolute but should be related to earning power of the offender.

Thus, instead of the fine being fixed at 500 marks for a particular mischief—a court may assess an offender five days' income. In the case of a wealthy man this might be 500 marks, while for a poor man it might be 30.

RUSSIA DENIES THREE CHARGES

Soviet Letter Says Non-Intervention Pact Not Violated as Alleged

LONDON, Nov. 5 (CP-Havas).—A Soviet denial of British charges that in three specific instances Russia had violated the international "hands off Spain" agreement commanded the attention of members of the non-intervention committee tonight.

The denial, in the form of a letter addressed to the Earl of Plymouth, chairman of the committee, declared the British charges had been weighed by competent Russian authorities, with the following conclusions:

1. The Spanish tanker Campecho took on a cargo of oil and petroleum at Batum but did not ship arms, munitions or other supplies falling under the international embargo.

2. The Soviet steamship Stari Bolshevik transported from Russia to Spain a cargo of trucks and spare parts but no supplies of a military nature.

3. The Soviet freighter Crushechev transported from Russia to Spain a cargo of sugar and lentils, trucks and spare parts.

Reports Escape Of Ten Convicts

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 5 (P).—Hamp Draper, chief of the state convict department, said that at least ten convicts at Kilby prison escaped tonight after seizing the power plant and plunging the prison into darkness for forty-five minutes. Draper said the men used a rough ladder to mount a five-foot wall, then fled into dense woods immediately behind the prison.

Commission On Coal Not Yet Reported

The Royal Commission appointed in 1934 to inquire into the coal and petroleum products situation in British Columbia has not yet reported to the Government, it was disclosed by Dr. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, in the Legislature yesterday.

He had been asked by Rolf W. Bruhn, member for Salmon Arm, for details of the commission's work and expenses, but was told that not only had the commission failed to report as yet, but the Government did not know the amount of the salaries, traveling costs and expenses to date.

Attorney-General Tells Legislature Of Hanging Cases

Hon. Gordon M. Sloan, K.C., Summarizes Evidence in George Murder Cases on Eve of Execution of Two of the Accused Indians

WITHIN a few hours of the time that Anas George and Richardson George, Indians, were due to step on the gallows at Oakalla to be hanged before a court higher than that of man, Attorney-General Sloan rehearsed their crimes in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday.

Step by step Mr. Sloan summarized the evidence, already set out in hundreds of pages of appeal books prepared for the Appeal Court of British Columbia and the Supreme Court of Canada, of the Canford Reserve fracas between four Indians and two peace officers, as a result of which Dominion Constable Frank Osborne and Provincial Constable Carr were beaten into submission, and finally thrown into the river.

Mr. Sloan said he failed to understand why two senior justices of the British Columbia Court of Appeal would have permitted the accused (and already convicted) men to wait in freedom from that court; nor the reasoning of eight members in the Legislature who had voted in favor of a last-minute effort to secure clemency for the two condemned prisoners.

Roar of Cannon Shaking Capital as Bombardment Of Suburbs Takes Heavy Toll of Life—Fascists' Front-Line Troops Resting Within Five Miles of Objective

Leaders Predicting Little Resistance From Defenders

ETAPE, SPAIN, (With the Fascist Front-Line Troops), Nov. 5 (P).—Fascist troops here today took a day's rest only five miles from Madrid, their objective, with insurgent leaders stating they believed the capital's defenders were ready to yield the city with little or no resistance.

Before the Fascist juggernaut, the Socialists retreated directly into the capital without even a gesture towards counter-attack up until late this afternoon.

Insurgent leaders stated it was highly probable that there would be only scattered street fighting, if that, to greet General Jose Varela's Moors and Legionnaires.

ONE MORE THRUST
They predicted that one more thrust by the Fascist columns converging on the Capital would be all that was necessary, and the next Socialist resistance, if it would be in the streets of Madrid.

Only "the move came from the Madrid-Government forces today" so far as it was known here, and that was disastrous to the extreme.

Seven airplanes, one a bomber and the rest pursuit ships, ventured forth early in the morning like a mother eagle with her brood. Struck swiftly from all sides by Fascist fighters, they dropped to the earth in flames, one after another.

This dispatch is being written at the very front lines, with the Capital clearly visible and seemingly Continued on Page 2, Column 3

BATTLESHIP MUST STAY

Sub-Committee on Imperial Defence Not Convinced Its Value Gone

LONDON, Nov. 5 (P).—The battleship versus bomber controversy remains basically unsettled, according to the report of a sub-committee on Imperial defence published today.

The report emphasized the necessity of further exhaustive experiments, but says that, on the basis of present knowledge, the battleship appears an essential part of a navy operating on the high seas.

THE COMMITTEE
The sub-committee consists of Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Coordination of Defence; Viscount Halifax, Lord Privy Seal; Malcolm MacDonald, Dominions Secretary; and Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade.

The Admiralty does not claim battleships are invulnerable to air attack, says the report, but that modern improvements in the protection of anti-aircraft gunnery make them at least no more vulnerable to bombing than to gunfire. Value of anti-aircraft fire, however, is most difficult to estimate on the basis of present experiments and further trials are necessary.

ONE TO FORTY-THREE
It is estimated that the capital cost and upkeep of a battleship over its normal life is equivalent to that of forty-three medium bombing planes. The report draws attention to the necessity of projecting naval bases against concentrated air attack.

DEFENCE TALK IS MISLEADING

Premier Says Reports of Large Defence Programme Not Well Founded

ABOARD SS. EMPRESS OF BRITAIN, Nov. 5 (CP-By Wireless).—Reports that Canada is planning a large defence programme are "quite misleading," Prime Minister Mackenzie King told newspapermen tonight as he returned to Canada from Geneva, where he attended a meeting of the League of Nations, followed by a sojourn in the United Kingdom.

The Prime Minister, met by newspapermen who boarded the Empress of Britain off Pather Point, Que., said defence of Canada, or Imperial defence, was not discussed as such. Canada, he said, was not committed to anything.

PEACE OUTLOOK BRIGHTER
Mr. King said he returned to Canada convinced each nation should mind its own affairs, meanwhile exerting good-will for peace, which, he added, seemed to be a brighter prospect now.

All phases of national life are being watched by the Canadian Government, the Prime Minister said. One of these was defence, which was fully discussed before his departure for Geneva, Mr. King said.

PROVINCE GIVING OLD BRIDGE AWAY

Legislature Learns That Premier Fraser Span Goes to Dominion Government

The existing traffic bridge at New Westminster, carried on the books of the Government at a valuation of $550,000, is to be given to the Dominion Government, it was made known to the Legislature yesterday in answer to questions by Rolf Bruhn, member for Salmon Arm.

Despite the fact that the public accounts give the earnings of the bridge for the year ending March 31 last, as being in excess of $90,000, Premier Pattullo in answer to Mr. Bruhn's question as to the average earnings of the bridge for the past ten years, stated that there was a deficit of $41,515.96 annually.

The transfer will be made to the Dominion Government upon the conclusion of the new bridge, the Premier stated. It will be used by the Federal Government exclusively as a railway traffic bridge. This would mean that the Provincial Government would be relieved of all liability and the necessity for the construction of a $1,000,000 lift span.

Seattle Symphony Given Ovation by Capacity Audience

Basil Cameron, Conductor, and His Popular Ensemble Received by Capacity House at Royal Victoria Theatre—Canadian Pianist Heard

ANOTHER distinguished performance by the Seattle Symphony Orchestra under their dynamic conductor, Basil Cameron, last night moved Victoria music lovers to unusual heights of enthusiasm. The programme gave manifest delight to an audience that crowded the Royal Victoria Theatre.

"The intrinsic worth of this orchestra has been generally acknowledged ever since its first visit to the city a few years ago; under Mr. Cameron's leadership, virile, imaginative, extremely artistic, it has still further ingrained itself in popular favor, as the big attendance and enthusiasm demonstrated. From an audience standpoint, the conductor possessed both authority and magnetism; in his relations with the orchestra, he seems to have a highly sensitive and direct personal contact with every instrument, and every group of instruments, and the entire ensemble, which he always, at

INSURGENT TROOPS POISED FOR ASSAULT

WITH THE INSURGENT FORCES NEAR PARIA, eleven miles south of Madrid, Nov. 5 (AP).—Their paths cleared by artillery and aviation, three lines of insurgents advanced in triangular formation on Madrid tonight.

The right wing occupied Getafe, eight miles from the capital, and began heavy bombardment of Government positions blocking their drive.

In a centre, other insurgent troops took control of Leganes, almost directly west of Getafe. The third column moved into positions overlooking Cuatro Vientos Airport, on a small hill about eight miles southwest of Madrid. Their immediate objectives were the Government aviation field, the Socialist radio station at Campamento, and suburban street car terminals.

THROUGH LAST SUBURB
The sweep into new strongholds near Cuatro Vientos Airport carried the insurgents through Alcorcon, eight miles southwest of the capital, and the last large suburb on the Madrid-Navalcarnera Highway. Insurgent forces were being augmented by deserters from the Socialist lines. Exhausted and hungry, the Government soldiers told their new commanders, "We have not eaten properly for a week."

As the Government tanks fired from the fighting near Torrejon de Velasco, three jammed their noses into a ditch. Only one of the tanks pulled out of the ditch and escaped.

Shells from a trench mortar, only a few yards away, tore through the other two tanks until their trapped drivers and gunners were only a bloody pulp.

STORMED TO THE GATES

MADRID, Nov. 5.—Spanish Fascist insurgents stormed to the gates of Madrid tonight.

The beleaguered inhabitants rushed to the lines of the Government militia fighting to keep the attacking Moors and Fascist troops from breaking through into the streets of the capital. The roar and clatter of cannon and machine guns shook the city, while overhead Government planes fought off Fascist bombers. Insurgent shells screamed over Madrid's suburbs, with Government batteries replying with a heavy barrage.

Two of the insurgent attacking warplanes were blasted from the sky by Government ships.

One of the Fascist pilots rode his ship to earth, and saved his life by crashing the plane in a tree top. His leg broken, he was taken to a hospital. The other Fascist ship crashed in flames. Its crew was trapped in the wreckage.

FOREIGN PILOTS

Government officials said the injured pilot was an Italian, and that one of the planes was made in Germany and manned by Germans.

Some of the city's terrified residents, their ears ringing with the sounds of nearby battle, sought refuge in subway tunnels and basements, while others ran through the streets, beside their men marching to the front.

Getafe, its 4,500 population evacuated several days ago, was in smoldering ruins. Its streets and homes were the targets for gunners of both sides during the week.

He concurred, he said, in clemency extended by the Minister of Justice to Alex George, intimating, however, that had Alex George been charged with the death of Constable Carr, the result might have been different.

Mr. Sloan closed the week-end debate on the main address, in the following words:

"There are two issues transcending in importance the George case. The first is the question of maintaining law and order upon Indian reserves. In the other, it is my considered view that the criminal must be taught that the killing of a policeman while engaged in carrying out his duty must inevitably be followed by his own death."

"So long as I occupy the position I do, I do not intend to encourage murder," Attorney-General Sloan concluded.

It was on that note that the long debate, commencing eight days ago, ended.

ASSOCIATION TO ASSIST VETERANS

New Organization Is Formed in Vancouver by Members of Ex-Imperial

During the past month Imperial veterans have organized a new association to be called the Imperial Veterans Association. Due to the fact that many of the veterans reasoned there was no representation to take care of their problems, outside of Imperial, a group of Imperial veterans met to discuss the matter.

Meetings were held in Vancouver recently for the purpose of organization. This new body, which has already applied for a charter, is for the sole purpose of general hospitalization, pensions, and social service. In view of the fact that the Veterans Assistance Commission will meet in Vancouver about November 10, it is urged that all Imperial veterans report or get in touch with this association, at its headquarters, 309 Dominion Bank Building, Hastings Street West, Vancouver, immediately.

Pilot's Own Machine for First Time Since Taking Up Residence in England

READING, England, Nov. 5 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took to the air as pilot of his own plane today for the first time since he came to Europe.

He made a test flight from Reading Airfield in a plane which its makers assert is the fastest touring monoplane ever built in this country. The "flying colonel" helped design it.

The ship was designed by Frederick George Miles, noted British airplane designer. Large gasoline tanks give it unusually long range and with its 200-horsepower Hispano engine it is said to be capable of flying non-stop for 1,000 miles at approximately 200 miles per hour.

Armistice Ball To Be Colorful

Through the courtesy of Commander C. P. Beard, commander in charge, Royal Canadian Navy at Esquimalt, and Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, D.S.O., M.C., G.O.C. Military District No. 11, permission has been granted to all members of His Majesty's naval and military forces to attend in uniform the Armistice Ball, which will be held in the Empress Hotel on Tuesday, November 10. Already members of the various services have signified their intention of attending by purchasing their tickets.

The varied colored uniforms of the different services mingling with the more pastel shades of the ladies' dresses amid the charming surroundings of the Empress Hotel ballroom should prove to be a beautiful spectacle.

An exceptional and appropriate programme has been specially arranged by William Tickle for the occasion and the martial airs of yesterday, along with the latest numbers of today should prove popular with all ages.

Those who are planning to spend the evening at the bridge tables are specially reminded to bring their own playing cards and score pads.

Tickets for this event may be obtained from any members of the Amputations Association, or at the Capital Shoe Repairing Shop at 608 Port Street.

Victoria will observe the annual occurrence of Poppy Day tomorrow when poppies and wreaths made by veterans in the Red Cross Workshop, Johnson Street, will be sold to aid disabled ex-servicemen and their dependents.

Sale of wreaths so far has been fairly successful and equal to previous years, according to J. Waterson, manager of the poppy headquarters, 635 Yates Street.

The workshop was visited recently by Reeve R. R. Taylor, of Oak Bay, and his council, who expressed the hope the public would generously support the campaign and thus assure its success.

Those wishing to help in the sale of poppies are asked to leave their names at the headquarters, Yates Street, or telephone E 5814. Refreshments will be supplied poppy sellers.

Salzburg Festival Vividly Pictured By Recent Visitor

Mme. Eva Baird Describes Some of Her Interesting Experiences at Great Annual Musical Event in Europe—Heard Many Operas

A VIVIDLY realistic picture of "O Jedermann" or "Everyman," which was produced by Max Reinhardt at the opening in 1922 of the Salzburg festival and is now presented regularly with this great annual musical event, was presented by Mme. Eva Baird, recently returned from a trip through Europe, in a talk given at her studio, Laurel Lane, on Wednesday evening.

Spending the entire festival period, July 26 to the end of August, in the ancient city of Salzburg, Mme. Baird kept a day-by-day diary from which she culled most of the information she gave her students. "Jedermann" she described as the outstanding event, with marvelous acting, done at fresco and against the grey walls of the square which enhanced the effects. Entrances and exits were through the ancient arches, and during the performance music and voices would come from different parts of the square. Among the particularly fine actors, were Attila Horberger, as "Jedermann," and Frieda Richard and M. Paula.

Approach to San Francisco Bridge

Construction of the San Francisco approaches and exits for the bridge necessitated building a network of roads and ramps over valuable industrial property. The course of each road, indicated by arrows, shows the elaborate system devised by engineers to expedite traffic. San Francisco-bound traffic will have two exits to choose from: one uptown, the other leading directly downtown. Interurban trains will speed across the lower deck of the bridge to a new terminal building, now under construction.

GIVEN LESSON IN ORCHESTRAS

A. Prescott Tells Rotarians Of Instruments and How Parts Are Arranged

Speaking before the Rotary Club yesterday in the Empress Hotel, Alfred Prescott gave an interesting address on the subject of the development of a symphony orchestra. The address, by the leader of the Rotary orchestra, was a timely one. In view of the fact that the Seattle Symphony Orchestra appeared here last night.

The speaker dealt with the mechanical arrangement of the various instruments in the orchestra, showing that their positions were dictated by well-established principles of orchestration.

With some of the pupils of the High School Orchestra present to assist members of the club had an opportunity of noting the technique of the young musicians. It was his hope, Mr. Prescott said, to build up a symphony orchestra in the city from the foundation provided by the High School Orchestra.

CHANGES IN INSTRUMENTS
Mr. Prescott alluded to the changes taking place in orchestras.

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA

By W. J. Banks, B.A.

Treaty Memorial, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

THE mighty Qu'Appelle Valley, since the earliest times a well-known route of travel and trade for Indians and whites, provides some lovely scenery in Canada's prairie lands. Its group of lakes are now the centre of a summer resort district much favored by residents of Regina and other Saskatchewan cities. In this region of charm lies Fort Qu'Appelle, located on an important prairie post. Here in 1784 was negotiated "Number Four," one of the historic series of treaties with the Indians regarding the ownership of most of Western Canada.

In those years the Indian wars were raging across the American border, soon Custer would make his last stand. In Canada unrest was not absent, as 1885 proved. But on the whole the tribes had been satisfied with the rule of the Hudson's Bay Company, and now the Dominion of Canada was seeking to follow the British policy of fair play for subject races. Throughout Canada's westward development the comparative absence of Indian wars and massacres stands out as a remarkable accomplishment.

The Qu'Appelle Treaty arranged square miles, mostly in what is now from time to time. In the present day composers in their compositions had in view orchestras of 105 pieces. In addition, instruments were being improved all the time. The range and relationship to the general orchestration of each of the main instruments were explained.

The speaker pointed out that a poor instrument was a poor instrument, even if only a learner. It was better to abandon such an instrument. Only by constant practice did players master the art of producing the best tones.

The pupils from the High School Orchestra who assisted Mr. Prescott were Miss Rae Miller, Mason Young, Douglas Kent and Reg Cooper.

TOURIST TRADE IS MAINTAINED

For Ten Months Customs Officials Handled 20,885 Foreign Cars With 57,630 Passengers

Vancouver Island's tourist business is holding its own at the present time, stated George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, yesterday, in announcing figures compiled by G. A. Yandley, collector of customs.

Customs officials at Victoria and Sidney combined, for the ten months ending October 31, have handled 20,885 foreign cars as compared with 13,868 during the same period in 1935, an increase of 70.7 or 50.7 per cent. These cars carried during the current year, 57,630 passengers as compared with 37,527 passengers for the same period last year. This is an increase of 20.1, or 53.3 per cent.

"This is the largest percentage increase in any district in the Puget Sound area," Mr. Warren stated. "The four mainland districts of entry: Aldergrove, Douglas, Huntingdon and the Pacific Highway, showed an increase in the ten months of 32.1-3 per cent in foreign cars handled, and 28.1-5 per cent in foreign passengers in cars."

Customs figures for Victoria and Sidney also showed officials handled 1,928 Canadian cars containing 5,659 passengers, as compared with 1,335 Canadian cars with 3,799 passengers - the same period in 1935. The increase this year is 44.1 per cent in Canadian cars and 52 per cent in Canadian passengers.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

DRUGS AND COARSE FOODS NOT ADVISABLE IN CONSTIPATION DUE TO SPASM OF LARGE INTESTINE

We should not condemn an individual who decides that he will not use "drugs" but will use "coarse" foods that will irritate the lining of the bowels and so make it empty its contents.

However, there are a great many cases where there is a "spasm" of the bowels just like a "cramp," and of course the wastes can get past. Naturally, it is thought to be "constipation" and purgatives and coarse foods are used to cleanse the bowels.

Now, spasm of the lower bowel is due to the same cause as a spasm elsewhere, that is, emotional disturbance of any kind, such as "nervousness," "excitement," "depression," "worry," and other emotions which put the nervous system out of balance or cause what is called "imbalance."

Dr. T. L. Hardy in The British Medical Journal tells us, and most physicians will agree that certain physiological and psychological types can often be recognized, notably the spare lean type of individual, slender of build, dark and sallow of complexion, and with his anxieties and perplexities engraved on his features. "In this soil or background different factors will affect the nervous and muscular system so that they will not work together in harmony." What is called "spastic constipation" may result.

Constipation, past or present, real or alleged, is complained of by the majority of patients. But more important are the methods adopted for its relief by purgatives, enemas, and unobtainable diet (usually coarse foods). The amount of purgative medicine taken by patients with spasm of the colon (the large bowel) in the belief often mistaken, that they are constipated, is enormous and results largely from the view, still widely held, that the large intestine is a waste tank and must be emptied completely once a day if health is to be maintained.

Treatment of this "spastic" condition is most effective when the patient is given a barium meal, and is able to see by the X-ray that while it may take two or three days to pass through the body, it is a more healthy state of affairs than the constant emptying of the bowel by a purgative.

REMAND GRANTED TO JUVENILES

Youths Charged With Having Committed Robbery With Violence On City Street

Two youths, each sixteen years of age, were before the judge of the juvenile court, Henry C. Hall, yesterday, on the complaint of Mrs. Florence Purcell and Mrs. I. N. Gandy that they had been held up on the street on Wednesday evening in both instances, they testified, they had been robbed of their purses.

Two youths, one of whom was Chinese, were arrested on Grant Street by Detective Walter Calwell and Pearson Woodburn when they were off the way to the home of one of the women who had been held up and robbed.

The judge remanded the cases for a week. They were charged with robbery with violence, the allegation being that they struck one of the women preceding the robbery.

Further excellent reports were read by representatives of Shalvigan Lake, Somers, Royal Oak, West Saanich and Victoria Institutes. Emphasis was laid upon the success of the handicrafts under the direction of the Victoria Institute, which has a membership of ninety-nine. Vinyl and Pender Island were also doing good work, according to the reports.

JUNIOR CLUB WORK

Mr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, addressed the members on "Junior Agriculture," pointing out to them the possibilities for future development among the junior clubs and advising them to concentrate on subjects suitable for girls. Wearing apparel in all its stages of production offered a wide field for girls' activities, the chemistry of dyeing and coloring, laundering, etc., having endless interesting branches to which attention could be drawn. There were well over 1,000 boys and girls doing organized club work in the province, and it was important that every effort should be directed towards training girls to be useful future Women's Institute members.

SENSE OF VALUES

Dr. Henrietta Anderson gave a helpful talk on "A Sense of Values," in which she urged the members to take more interest in school matters. The new curriculum had made advances which, she hoped, would do much towards developing a sense of service in the minds of young people.

Mrs. E. W. Hamber, honorary vice-president of the National Council of Women, will be the guest.

Brief reports will be given by some of the standing committees, also the report of the recent quarterly meeting of the Provincial Council. Tea will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Waters, whose marriage took place recently before her wedding, the bride was Miss Mary Jackson.

Weddings

The marriage was quietly solemnized in the Bishop's Palace last night at 8 o'clock, when Rev. Father Gaudette conducted the wedding service for Mary Helen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smith, 2829 Prior Street, and Mr. Thomas Edward Sullivan, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan, 1010 Queen Avenue.

Mr. Smith gave his daughter in marriage, and she wore a pretty frock of blue tulle and an embroidered white net arranged beneath a halo of orange blossoms, and held an arm bouquet of white carnations. Attending her as matron of honor was Mrs. R. Rowlinson, in a mauve flowered frock and a mauve hat, and the bridesmaid was Miss Muriel Strong, in a pale pink frock with mauve flowers and a pink hat. They both held sheaves of mauve chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern. The bride's little sister, Dorothy, was flower girl, in a dainty pink and mauve silk frock, who wore a handkerchief of pink ribbon in her hair and carried a posy of pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Jack Macdonald.

A largely attended reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's parents, which was bright with flowers, the bride and groom standing in a bow of autumn foliage and roses to receive the greetings of their friends. A three-tiered cake centred the supper table, which was arranged with vases of pink roses. For the occasion, Mrs. Smith had chosen a dress of brown georgette with matching accessories, and Mrs. Sullivan a black crepe gown and a navy blue hat. They both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

After a few days' honeymoon on the Island, for which the bride left in a smart blue and white outfit, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will take up residence in the Caldwell Apartments, Cook Street.

Among the numerous gifts were a silver casserole from the former co-workers of the bride at the New Methodist Laundry, Ltd., and a case of table silver from the Victoria Brass & Iron Works, where the bridegroom is employed. Mr. and Mrs. R. Rowlinson, Mill Bay, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Vaux, Duncan, were among the guests at the wedding.

COMEDY TEAM ON DOMINION SCREEN

Laurel and Hardy Rise to Even Greater Heights in New Picture, "Our Relations"

"Our Relations," which begins a three days' run at the Dominion Theatre today, is based on "The Money Box," written by England's foremost short story teller.

The picture gives new laurels and added renown to Laurel and Hardy in celebration of their tenth anniversary as the foremost comedy team on the screen. They've enacted dual roles for the first time in a full-length feature and the result is unquestionably their greatest laugh hit in their most elaborate production.

Their inimitable whimsical pantomime and deft phantasy is superbly performed in the artistic background of the story.

ATLAS The story of "She Shall Have Music," the smash-hit show of shows which introduces Jack Hylton and his world-famous band to the screen at the Atlas Theatre depicts a millionaire shipbuilder, who hires the band to stage a broadcast on his yacht, from the South Seas, as a publicity stunt for the steamship lines he owns.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Atlas — Jack Hylton in "She Shall Have Music."

Capitol — "The Gorgeous Hussy," with Robert Taylor.

Columbia — Gene Raymond in "Hooray for Love."

Dominion — "Our Relations," with Laurel and Hardy.

Oak Bay — Norma Shearer in "Smilin' Through."

Plaza — "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," starring Gary Cooper.

OAK BAY Norma Shearer's heart-thrilling photoplay "Smilin' Through," now playing at the Oak Bay Theatre, presents the unique phenomenon of a star being supported by four other stars. For appearing with Miss Shearer in this renowned picture are Fredric March, Leslie Howard, O. P. Heggie and Ralph Forbes. "Smilin' Through" has again and again been endorsed by critics and the public alike as one of the greatest photoplays ever made.

PLAZA "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," now showing at the Plaza Theatre, is a comedy success in which Gary Cooper, as a young man who has recently inherited $20,000,000, is put on trial for his sanity because some people don't like the way he is.

spending his money. Before the trial is over Cooper turns the tables and practically convinces the judge, jury and spectators that everyone is looney with the exception of himself.

CAPITOL "The Gorgeous Hussy" THEATRE now playing at the Capitol Theatre, shows Robert Taylor, the screen's most sensational "find" since Clark Gable, fresh from triumphs in "His Brother's Wife" and "Private Number," playing a dashing young naval officer who woos the Hussy and becomes her first husband.

COLUMBIA "Hooray for Love," at THEATRE the Columbia Theatre today and Saturday, is described as a tangle of human interest story which centres about the urge of a youth just out of college to become a famous Broadway producer. The cast supporting Miss Sothen and Gene Raymond includes Pert Kellon, Maria Gambarrell, Thurston Hall, Lionel Stander and "Fats" Waller.

Dominion Shows British Airman Making Record

THE amazing strides in aviation are shown in the current issue of The Colonist-Universal newsmag, now showing at the Dominion Theatre. The British airman who broke all previous records in attaining an altitude of nine and a half miles is seen in all the weird trappings essential for the rarified atmosphere which he invaded. Another flash comes from Alameda, California, when the Philippine Clipper sets out on the maiden trip as a passenger carrier, bound for Manila, thus blazing the trail for what officials confidently predict to be a regular scheduled flight. Added to this is the shot of the new army speed plane, which makes a top speed of 315 miles per hour.

Other glimpses of world-wide events in this reel are: Premier Hepburn in the colorful ceremony which dubbed him full chief of Six-Nations Indians; the panic-stricken natives of Shanghai fleeing before the advance of the Japanese troops; the newest type of racing boat in action at Miami, Florida, capable of traveling over one hundred miles an hour. Not of least interest to the fair sex is a fashion parade which shows the newest and most chic in smart furs as worn in New York.

Thou shalt not Love

CHAPTER XIII

Josh was almost able to forget that she had ever been unhappy when she climbed into Lincoln's car and they sped out on Long Island in the May sunshine. Dear old Linc! He was like a brother. She didn't even feel lumpy and miserably conscious of her weight, as she was certain she would have with any other person in the world. He made her feel as though she were doing him a big favor sitting by his side listening to him talk of this and that; or harmonizing with his baritone, as the spirit moved.

Miraculously, they found an almost deserted little beach and stretched out in the sunshine. Lincoln was really handsome, she decided. He was lying on his back, shading his eyes, staring at the gulls. The peculiar grey of his eyes was hard to describe. Linc's eyes were too brilliant and alive to be slate. Too warm to be steel.

His hair was that of a brilliant man, with full, high forehead. She liked the strength of his chin and the brown tenderness of his cheek. Women, she knew, were mad about him. And she didn't wonder. "Too bad he was a cynic where they were concerned. He really owed it to himself to find a nice girl and settle down."

She would have been surprised if she had known Linc was thinking of the same thing about her. And that he was hoping she'd tell him of her own accord. She had been taking her out. She'd told him over the phone she had lots to talk about. He hesitated to lead up to the subject himself, remembering how Josh had been when he teased her.

But apparently, she had no intention of taking him into her confidence. It was getting dusk when he suggested they have dinner at the Gull Club. Jocelyn looked ruefully at the wrinkles in her navy blue frock, but shook the sand from her slippers and laughed it off. It didn't matter with Linc.

Their faces were beet-red from the sun. Josh felt as though she were due for a case of sunburn, and asked Linc to remind her to stop at a drug store on the way home for a lotion for her face and arms.

Several times on the road to the club Jocelyn found herself wondering if Linc had called her. The head waiter found a table for them in a softly lighted corner, and they were being seated when Jocelyn looked across the room and saw him. At first she thought it must be her imagination. He was with a woman. She sat down hurriedly, stunned.

"What's that?" Linc turned. "I haven't seen Jake since you were 'uns were fourteen."

By that time Josh was trembling. It was a situation she was in no way capable of handling. Jealousy! If that was the way it made people feel, she was thankful she'd had no experience with it before. But, somehow, she had to see the situation through and try to be clever about it—acting a part she did not feel was also a new role. Her smile was strained.

"What—shall we do? Leave them alone, or let them know we see them?"

"She seems to have him charmed into a lengthy monologue," Linc grinned. "Let's eat awhile and let them discover us."

Josh swallowed the lump in her throat. "Let's. When they come down to earth they'll see us."

Try as she would, Josh could not keep her eyes from straying to the table across the room. She picked at her food until Linc chided her. "Going on a diet?"

"Exactly," she admitted, trying to smile. "It's a long story. But I'm going to a famous specialist tomorrow and see what can be done about shaving off about twenty-five or thirty pounds. I should have done it long ago."

"I thought so," Linc said knowingly. "First new clothes. Then she starts worrying about a few extra pounds. Come clean, Josh. I've been dying with curiosity all afternoon."

Josh blinked and looked down at her plate. It took all her courage to keep from laying her head over and giving way to hysteria. But it just couldn't be done!

"Linc," she choked then, "you're just like one of the family. I—I can tell you. But I couldn't tell anyone else in the world. Pippine you won't laugh."

"Darling," he leaned his elbows on the table and smiled at her quietly. "Why should I laugh at you? You've listened to enough of my piffle with a straight face. Come on, tell old Pop Laine what's happened."

Through stiff lips she managed to tell him of Linc Lovell, and how she had met him. How for almost two weeks she had been his constant companion. She eliminated the part about the kisses at Malibu Beach. But she told him of the Doctors' Club dance, and how she had overheard the conversation about herself in the lounge.

"It's nothing, you see," she assured him then. "Just that I was very busy all those nights. I just trying to be a good friend to him. He—he'll be a famous specialist some day, and I thought—if my friendship could help him—"

"She ended lamely," Linc's face was a study. "And so, you sort of fell in love, meanwhile. Is that it?"

"Oh no," she denied hurriedly. "I don't think so. It's just that—well, he happens to be the man sitting over there with 'Jake'."

Jocelyn saw the amazement in the grey eyes. Then Linc's jaw hardened. "Nice girl."

"I guess," Josh broke in, "she just can't bear to see any one get any attention but her. And there may be another reason. I found out Friday night he is to inherit several million dollars in six months. Jake may have heard it too. Or, mother might have put her up to it to keep him away from me. There could be several reasons."

"Can it be possible your mother would do such a trick? What would her reason be?"

Josh flushed self-consciously. Then she spoke the blunt truth, remembering what Suzie had said. "She's afraid she'll lose her meal ticket, I guess. Oh, I mustn't talk like that. Linc! Forget it. I'm feeling a little better these days."

"About time," Lincoln snapped viciously at a piece of celery. "I think I'd like to have a little fun, if you don't mind."

"What's on your mind?"

"It seems to me," Linc specu-

DETROIT TURNS BACK TORONTO IN OPENING GAME

Important Games Scheduled in English and Scottish Leagues Tomorrow

Portsmouth Will Face Sunderland In Day's Feature

First Division Leaders Will Take Field Against Last Season's Champions—Brentford Meets Birmingham and Stoke Takes on Derby—Dons and Rangers Hold Scottish Spotlight

LONDON, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—An attractive fixture list is in store for English football enthusiasts this week-end. Eyes of the experts will be focused on Sunderland, where last year's champion team opposes Portsmouth. If the visiting squad is able to duplicate its victory at Derby, it will have gone a long way on the road to the English League championship.

Forging steadily ahead, Portsmouth is out in front in the First Division with a three-point lead over Brentford and Grimsby Town, tied for second place.

Sunderland is one of several clubs one point behind, but the Northerners are now playing in top gear and not likely to fall before their Roker Park supporters, who have yet to see them beaten this season.

McClulloch, Brentford's Scottish centre forward, returns to the Londoners' line-up against Birmingham, which is not expected to repeat last season's surprise. Arsenal has fallen on evil days and is perched precariously on the seventeenth rung of the league ladder. Leeds United is visitor at Highbury Saturday and the Gunners are revising their line-up. Basin, adroit winger, goes to right half with Drake at centre forward. Leeds has yet to win away from home this season.

STOKE FACES DERBY

Stoke City is likely to put up a hot struggle at Derby and another tight struggle will be that between Everton and West Bromwich Albion on the former's ground.

Promoted from Second Division last season, Charlton and Manchester United try conclusions on the latter's ground at Old Trafford. The Athletic is up among the leaders, while the Mancunians are at the bottom. A tight struggle is probable, with both clubs holding teams unchanged from last week.

Second Division games will see Bury, the leader, pitted against Southampton, while great interest will also be taken in the Aston Villa-Tottenham Hotspurs tilt at Villa Park.

Fulham will have Rook at centre in place of Perry, and Finch replaces Worsley at outside right for the match with West Ham United. Martin and Foxhill, their leading forwards, will be missing from Hamers' line-up. Plymouth Argyle take on Bradford and expects to keep its unbeaten home record.

Although playing at Northampton, Luton Town should retain its leadership of the Southern Section, Third Division, and Chester, out in front in the Northern Section, can expect to land both points in New Brighton.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—Accommodation at Throx Park, home of the famous Glasgow Rangers, will be taxed to capacity Saturday when the cupholders will be opposed by Aberdeen in what promises to be the outstanding battle of the Scottish Football League schedule.

The confident Dons are banking on victory to retain their four-point margin at the top of the first division. But they also aspire to the honor of being the first team to smirch the Rangers' unbeaten record this season. It will be a grim affair.

In third place, four points behind Aberdeen and three behind Celtic, Rangers have played only thirteen games, three less than the leaders. The Celts have figured in fifteen contests. While the Glasgow team's log column is still intact, it has played six drawn games.

The fixture is likely to result in a smaller crowd than usual at Parkhead where Celtic entertain St. Mirren. Celts are likely to emerge victorious.

Motherwell could only draw at Falkirk last week but is not likely to be caught napping at home against

Burleigh Grimes
New Manager of Brooklyn Squad

BROOKLYN, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—Temperamental Burleigh Grimes today came back to his old fighting grounds as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Stormy petrel of the Dodgers' pitching staff from 1919 through to 1928, manager of the seven-time Louisville (A.A.) club last year, Grimes was given a one-year contract to succeed Casey Stengel.

The announcement was made by President Stephen W. McKee through John Gorman, business manager of the club. Gorman refused to name Grimes' salary, but said it was "considerably more than $7,500."

Grimes was not here when the announcement was made by The Associated Press in St. Louis that he would have "the best hustling team in the National League."

Toronto Varsity Outclasses McGill Gridders

Warren Stevens' University of Toronto gridders scored sweet revenge for their defeat at Montreal last week by stopping the McGill twelve in their tracks at Toronto, winning by a score of 35 to 2. McGill, though beaten, were not outclassed, as the above pictures show. Top, a McGill man is rounding the end for a nice gain. Below, a Varsity man has spilled a McGill back, as he tries to run back a kick. Varsity is now favored to win the Inter-Collegiate title.

WINGS REGISTER 3-1 VICTORY; HAWKS AND AMERICANS IN DRAW

Trio of Goals in Third Period Give Stanley Cup Champions Decision at Maple Leaf Gardens—New York Squad Holds Chicago to 1-All Deadlock—13,500 Watch Teams

MAPLE LEAF GARDENS, TORONTO, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—Just as they ruined Stanley Cup hopes here, about last Spring, Detroit's champion Red Wings spoiled the National Hockey League opening tonight for Toronto Maple Leafs by winning, 3-1, over the home forces.

The kings of professional hockey looked regal only in the third period, but they got in sufficient blows during this twenty-minute session to flatten the Leafs and wreck completely Walter Brodie's ambition of starting his big-league career with a shutout.

Buzz Boll scored the only goal in the first period, sniping in a pass from Bill Thoms. Harvey Jackson, the game's real star, and Sylvanus Apps, amateur star of Hamilton Tigers last season, carried the battle to the champions through the second without scoring.

But the Wings tied the score in the third when Burko McDonald put a goalmouth pass on Syd Howe's stick, and seven seconds later Larry Aurie beat Brodie from the blue line near the finish. Pete Kelly made the opening more disappointing than ever for 8,482 fans by banging in a rebound from Wally Kilrea's shot.

AMERICANS-HAWKS DRAW

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—The locally-embellished New York Americans and Chicago Black Hawks battled to a 1-1 overtime tie at the Chicago Stadium tonight to open the National Hockey League season before 13,500 spectators.

Both goals came in a fast, rough second period. Bill Kendall, on a fast pass from Louis Trudel, put the Hawks in front after nine minutes of play in the stanza. Less than six minutes later Harry Oliver knotted the count with Lloyd Jackson getting an assist.

The fight for control of the Americans being waged between the league and the club's ousted owner, William Dwyer, failed to prevent the visitors from battling the Hawks on even terms through the game in which eleven penalties were called, two of them majors on Allan Shields and Earl Siebert for a brief exchange of punches in the third period.

About two weeks ago the National League took over the Americans franchise on the grounds the club was indebted to the league Wednesday, an order obtained from a judge at Windsor, Ont., as served on the Americans restraining them from playing under the auspices of the National League. As result they played tonight under the name of the New York Americans Hockey Club, of which Dwyer was president.

Attorney John Shelleck, representing Dwyer, said the club was willing and able to meet its financial obligations but Frank Calder, president of the National League, said other club representatives would have to study the situation before a final decision is reached.

Just before the opening of the game, "Doc" Romnes, Blackhawks centre, was presented with the Lady Byng Trophy by President Calder. The award was for being the league's most sportsmanlike player last season.

Every Member of Cubs in Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—Every member of the Chicago Cubs is still considered trading material, but not for the purpose of obtaining Dizzy Dean from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Owner Phil K. Wrigley awaits someone to convince him that Dizzy would help the Cubs enough to offset the price the Cardinals would demand in players.

The Cubs are interested in Phil Derringer, workhorse right-hander, and Third Baseman Lew Riggs of the Cincinnati Reds.

Warwickshire Wins

LONDON Nov. 5 (U.P.)—In an inter-county rugby match at Coventry today, Warwickshire triumphed over East Midlands 28-3.

GOLF FACTS

NOT THEORIES

By ALEX MORRISON

Put straight when we doubt about roll.

Most putts find the ball travelling over surface that slope one or more ways. This slope or roll is mighty important, particularly to the player who isn't familiar with the greens.

The players can get information about the roll he should allow for from his caddy, and he can size up the putt by looking along the line from the ball to the hole and from the hole to the ball; but with all this he will often be very uncertain about the exact line he should take.

The green may appear to slope one way as he looks toward the hole and it may seem to slope the opposite way when viewed from the side.

In such cases, the player should put straight for the cup. Many good putters make a practice of going straight for the cup with a firm hit rather than try to trick the ball along some line about which they cannot be sure.

There is such a thing as being too bold on the green, but it is a good thing when you find yourself perplexed about the line.

PURSE EVENT WILL BE RUN

San Francisco Handicap for $5,000 Set for Tomorrow At Tanforan Track

TANFORAN RACETRACK, SAN BRUNO, Calif., Nov. 4—Tanforan's Fall classic the $5,000 added San Francisco Handicap, a dress the cream of the Western handicap horses now in training, it was disclosed yesterday when nominations were announced by Racing Secretary Julius Reeder. The stakes, the sixth on the schedule for the twenty-five day meeting will be decided Saturday, Nov. 7 at one mile and one-eighth.

Favorites may be split four ways as the field promises to bring out keen contention. The sterling eight-year-old campaigning Tiek On—despite his defeat through the mud Saturday will not lack for supporters; Blue Bird, now at the top of her form, will be well-backed; Pimlico victorious over Blue Bird earlier in the season, still be a strong factor, while the invader Seacuit, comes as a last minute threat.

OTHER STARS

Others in the race include Wildland, a surprise winner over Tiek On in the Half Moon Handicap on Saturday; the Miss Ivan Parke entry of Gay Edward and Walsche—both hard-hitting runners; the sensational juvenile development, Tarapood, the two Canadian-owned stars, Sweepstake and Uppermost; the California-bred filly Lady Pierce, and the distance runner, Crete.

Seacuit on route now from New York with the eastern division of the C & H stable will be unloaded Wednesday and started Saturday, providing he ships well.

The encounter is easily the outstanding attraction of the Fall and to the winners goes the championship of the meeting.

Collegians Will Battle Students

With St. John's College and Chinese Students meeting in the main attraction three more games will be run off in the Sunday School Basketball League tomorrow evening at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. In the first game at 7 o'clock, St. Albans will meet Y.M.C.A. in the junior section and they will be followed by Crescencia and Metropolitan Maroons in the intermediate "B" division. The Collegians and Students will then take the court.

Sunday School Soccer

Matches scheduled Saturday in the Sunday School Football League are as follows:

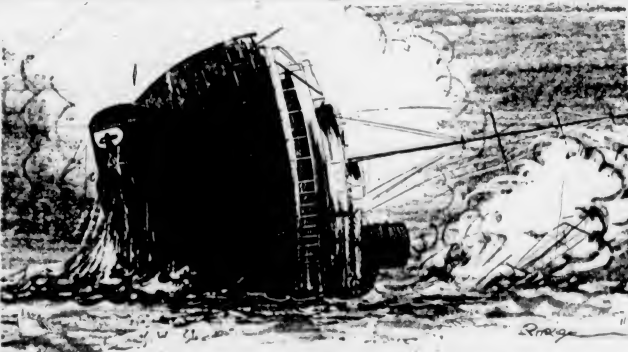

Metropolitans vs. St. Albans. High School. Referee, P. Tooby.

St. Albans vs. Crescencia. Spencer Park. Referee, P. J. Woodley.

Lake Hill vs. Emmanuel Baptist. Joffer Central Park. Referee, H. Tooby.

The Lighthouse built on Cotton—The erection of the Lighthouse on the sandy Wirral shore, England, presented an unsurmountable difficulty, because of the instability of the sandy shore and the lack of a suitable foundation for the masonry tower. The difficulty was solved in a very strange manner. An incoming American ship laden with cotton had gone ashore and was wrecked nearby. The bales were salvaged and dumped into the sand at the point where the lighthouse was to be erected. The heavy mass settled into the sand, and became as solid as the hardest rock. On this curious foundation the lighthouse was erected and has endured for 175 years.

BILLY BUXTON KAYCES McMILLAN IN THIRD ROUND

Seattle Fighter No Match for Victoria Boy in Feature Mix

Local Southpaw Drops McMillan Six Times Before Referee Roy Baker Halts Bout—Eddie Ryan Wins Nod Over Phil Trudeau in Semi-Wind-Up—Good Crowd Attends

Dropping his opponent for an eighth count in the second round and then flooring him five times before Referee Roy Baker halted the bout in the third session, Billy Buxton, 124-pound Victoria southpaw, yesterday evening registered a technical knockout over Seattle's McMillan, 130 pounds, in the scheduled eight round main event of the Bi-Millennial Athletic Club's boxing card staged in their new sports hall, Fraser Street.

Fighting in the semi-windup, Eddie Ryan, New Westminster, was split decision, over Phil Trudeau, Vancouver, after six rounds of very ordinary milling. They fought at 127 pounds.

SCORES KAYO.
"Dusty" Jones, colored Seattle battler, was awarded a second round technical kayo over Freddy Buxton, sixteen-year-old Victoria fighter making his professional debut, when the local boy's seconds tossed the towel into the centre of the ring after he had been floored twice by the shifty Sound City mitt stinger. Buxton weighed 139 pounds, twenty pounds less than his brother.

Defeated seven months ago by Russ McMillan, Billy Buxton started to throw plenty of gloves from the first tap of the gong. He bored into his opponent and really went to work by landing some telling blows. As the gloves met their target, McMillan's white skin became almost red and when he walked to his corner for the end of the round he knew that he had been in a fight. A short left, one that traveled only a few inches, dropped McMillan to the canvas in the second round and he took an eighth count. He went down again a few seconds after he climbed to his feet before the referee began to count and went into a clinch.

The third round saw Buxton, fighting like a champion, floor his opponent for a nine count. The Seattle boy came up, but was soon on the canvas again, this time for a five count.

McMillan climbed to his feet, purky from instinct, and then was dropped again and this time Referee Roy Baker stepped in and stopped the battle.

It was a great triumph for the Victoria southpaw who seven months ago dropped a decision to the Seattle boxer. McMillan never had a chance last night. The Sound City fighter, hopelessly outclassed, displayed gameness if nothing else and when floored by the telling blows of his opponent always climbed to his feet for more punishment.

Ryan's aggressiveness carried him to victory over Trudeau in the semi-windup. Neither of the boys did any damage in a bout that failed to thrill the fans at anytime.

JONES HALTS BUXTON.
Freddy Buxton looked good in the first round of his mix with "Dusty" Jones, Seattle. He played a nice left to Mr. Jones' eye and pushed a left hook into the midsection that carried power. The second round was just getting under way nicely when Jones drew a right to the local boy's head. He dropped for a six count and went down again soon after and the towel was tossed into the ring.

The fans gave the young Victorian a great hand and certainly took a liking to the ability and hardhitting Seattle boy.

Roy Baker refereed the semi-windup and the main event, while

Portland Star and Vancouver Girl Take Premier Places in Pacific Northwest—Doug Cameron and Edna Lawrence Second—Ross "Bud" Hocking Given Seventh Place

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5 (P.-L.C.)—Edward Cooke, of Portland, and Jean Milne, of Vancouver, are considered "tops" for 1936 among tennis players of the Pacific Northwest.

The Portland racket wielder was given the top spot in the men's singles list, replacing Jack Brown, of Vancouver, who was unranked this year. Doug Cameron, of Vancouver, was placed second, and Seattle's Mel Dranga, third.

Mrs. Milne headed the women's singles group, with Edna Lawrence, of Seattle, second, and Eleanor Young, of Vancouver, third.

Seventeen-year-old Ann Frederickson, of Portland, set something of a record in the rankings by being given the top spot in the list for girls under eighteen and at the same time holding down the tenth position in the women's singles rankings.

HOW THEY RANKED

The rankings:
Men—1, Edward Cooke, Portland; 2, Doug Cameron, Vancouver; 3, Mel Dranga, Seattle; 4, Colin Milne, Vancouver; 5, S. Lee, Portland; 6, J. C. I. Edwards, Victoria; 7, R. V. Young, Victoria; 8, L. Nordstrom, Seattle; 9, K. Clegg, Seattle.

Jack Brown, last year's holder of the number one ranking in the men's singles, was not ranked this year owing to an ankle injury which kept him out of most of the tournament play.

H. "Boss" of Seattle, and Ruth Ronald, of Portland, were unranked because of insufficient data. The association gave the rankings on the following tournaments:

Oregon State, Portland City, Pacific Northwest, Washington State, Seattle City, Canadian, Vancouver City, British Columbia, Victoria City, Pacific Northwest Section, Yakima Valley, Central Washington, Starr-Reynolds-Starr Matches.

ALL-STAR MAT CARD WILL BE OFFERED HERE

Leading Heavyweights to Meet Tomorrow Evening At Tillicum Gymnasium

Victoria wrestling fans are promised plenty of action, thrills, galore and some clever grappling tomorrow evening at the Tillicum Athletic Club gymnasium, when Promoter Fred Richardson presents his best-balanced mat programme of the season.

The double main event, with each bout scheduled for six ten-minute rounds, will present clever Pat Fraley, Nebraska, and Donald McIntyre, Scottish heavyweight, in one half, and Chief Chiswick, gypsy grappler, and Rebel Russell, villain of the ring, in the other half.

Followers of the grunt and groan pastime will look to Fraley and McIntyre for the clever wrestling, and to Chiswick and Russell for rough tactics. The Nebraska, rated close to the top of the heavy-weight division, is in line for a title bout with Dean Dettion, present world champion, while McIntyre, sturdy Scot, is also ranked high in the heavy class.

MANY TRICKS
Chief Chiswick, dusky gypsy pachyderm and the mat game's most colorful performer, has many tricks which he is not adverse to using. They are not exactly orthodox or even used by clever wrestlers, but they certainly give the fans a laugh. Russell, rugged New Yorker, battles from the first sound of the gong and stops at nothing in his desire to pin his opponent.

The special event will mark the return to this spot of Louie Newman, local boy, who last week defeated Glen Stone, shifty Olympian, and Jack O'Brien, Vancouver freshman. The boys will go five six-minute rounds, or the best two out of three falls.

Pat McGregor and Young Dr. Sarpolla, Victoria youngsters, will meet in the curtain-raiser at 8:45 o'clock.

The following tournaments were added for junior rankings: Portland Centre, Tacoma Centre, Seattle Centre, Vancouver Centre and Victoria Centre.

ADVOCATES SCHEME OF REGIONAL PACTS

Wingers precipitated the debate by moving an amendment to the address, in reply to the speech from the Throne, declared the next twelve or eighteen months might be Britain's last chance of averting European conflict or even a world war.

He urged that Britain stand by the League of Nations and try to bring into Geneva the largest possible number of peace-seeking but well-armed nations to "overawe any potential aggressor."

A GENERAL GUARANTEE

He suggested if Germany feared Russian aggression the Reich should enter the League. Then, he declared, as Europe would guarantee to assist Germany against the Soviet invader.

Churchill said if the exertions of Britain were not supported proportionately by others and collective security should turn out to be a fraud and the League an idle dream, then Britain and France together "will be very dangerous to attack very hard to destroy."

Referring to Russia, he attributed the civil war in Spain largely to Soviet influence and said it would be "quite impossible for the free nations of the Western world to interest themselves in the fate of Russia if she continues to present herself in this guise."

TWO ALTERNATIVES

In his lengthy review of the Government's efforts, Foreign Secretary Eden said, "I suggest two things as Great Britain's alternatives:

"First, strive to lead the world back on the path of peace through toleration, observance of international order and respect for the support of such order."

"Second, re-equip ourselves and

He was cheered as he continued: "If Great Britain shows strength and unity, there will be peace."

Some quarters, said Eden, considered it fashionable to sneer at the League. "It is our hope and intention to prove that these sneers are unjustified."

"Because there has been one failure," declared Eden, "there is no reason to say that the world must turn back on an endeavor which is the only alternative to catastrophe and failure."

PROPOSED REFORMS

Britain had proposed reforms of the League, designed to enable it to take swift action in any dispute, and to answer the accusation that the League was solely devoted to maintenance of the status quo.

Eden said Britain must recognize some powers did not agree the League was the best possible medium for settling disputes.

"It is well to recognize that until they do," he continued, "the authority of the League of Nations cannot be complete, though it could well be made so, and it is our duty to make it as important as possible."

New invitations had been sent to the Locarno Treaty signatories, the Foreign Secretary told the House.

seeking a five-power conference. Consultations already held showed formidable divergences, but he believed they were not insuperable.

GERMAN FRIENDSHIP

British friendship with Germany called for two conditions, Eden said. "Such a friendship cannot be exclusive. It cannot be directed against anyone else."

"Because there has been one failure," declared Eden, "there is no reason to say that the world must turn back on an endeavor which is the only alternative to catastrophe and failure."

Since the war Britain alone had lent Germany almost the equivalent of what she received in reparations. "This is a doctrine which we cannot for a moment accept. It is not in accordance with the facts."

Eden said the Government would welcome the Reich's participation in the tripartite currency agreement which ended the European gold bloc.

ANSWERS MUSSOLINI

Eden answered declarations made by Premier Mussolini last Sunday in a speech at Milan. The Mediterranean was not a short cut, but a main arterial route for Britain, he said. But Britain did not question that the Mediterranean was Italy's "very life" and she had no desire to threaten or attack Italian interests in that zone. She likewise welcomed Il Duce's assurance that

FRED STEELE AFTER BOUTS

Middleweight Champion Willing to Meet All Challengers

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5 (AP) — Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele, readying himself for an invasion of Eastern prize fight rings, is willing to meet all challengers, including the ex-titholder, Babe Riso.

The Tacoma blond, who meets hard-punching Gus Lesnevich, Hackensack, N.J., Russian, here November 17, resumed hard gymnasium work today. While he worked, his manager, portly Dave Miller, spoke.

"Riso, after beating Harry Bamsco in New York last week, looks like the best bet," Miller said. "We'd like to sign for him, and set a date before February, but we wouldn't like to take on a fight before then in Milwaukee, Pittsburgh or Philadelphia. I'd like to get Freddie acclimated before going into a championship match."

"Naturally, we will insist on the champion's percentage guarantee," he added. "We guaranteed Riso $25,000 to put his title up against Steele, so we think it's only fair that we get the same kind of a deal in return."

INTOXICATE

Smile as desperately as we know how when we say "Intoxicate," we can't never escape the word's ugly undertones.

In this respect, in the lexicon, if nowhere else, is there comfort to confirm our worst intuitions and reactions.

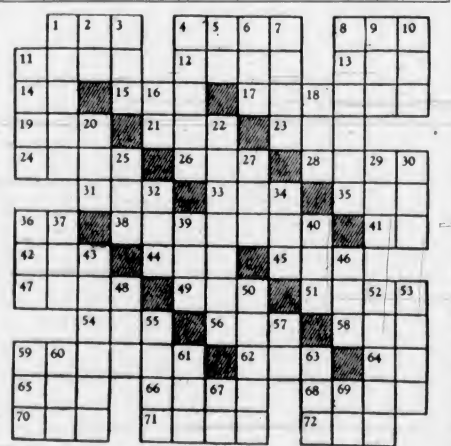

It tells us, for example, that to intoxicate is "to poison; to drug." Think at first made us think we were making unnecessary ado; but the second definition gave us pause. It is "to make drunk to inebriate; to excite or to stupefy by strong drink or by narcotic substance."

The last, as it was the punchline, however, blacked out the situation completely. It read: "To excite to a transport of frenzy or madness."

All things of course must have a beginning as well as an end; having begun at the end, we will revert to the beginning.

"Intoxicate" starts appropriately with "toxic" which is from the Latin "toxicum" rooted in the Greek origin, a poison in which arrows were dipped.

Jane Dixon Says:

WHAT WOULD BE YOUR ANSWER TO THE WOMAN WHO CONFIDES SUCH A COMPLEX PROBLEM TO US?

If ever there was a time I felt the need of help from you, the friends of this column, this is it.

What would be the answer to the woman who confides such a complex problem to us?

What advice would you give?

What help would you offer?

There's a right way, if only we can find it.

Dear Jane Dixon—What I've done is very unconventional, and I know I deserve a reprimand, but it seems too late for that now.

I have been married eight years to a man who has never contributed much to my support. I've worked practically all of my married life. My husband and I have more or less gone our own ways. I know that he has had affairs with other women, and that this changed my feelings toward him. We've lived with my people for the last six years.

I work in an office where I come in contact with business men. The girl who works with me and I often stop in a cocktail bar for a drink on our way home.

HERE'S WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

About a year ago, in this bar, we met a man who is a very good customer of our firm. He insisted on buying us a drink. This happened many times after work. Then one evening he asked us to meet him after dinner. We consented. There were always the three of us until one evening the other girl was detained. I met him alone and we went for a drive. I began seeing him alone every week or two. Finally, we admitted we loved one another.

The man is twenty-five years my senior. He is very successful in business, greatly respected in civic matters—and he is married. His married life has been unhappy (not that this is an excuse for us). He is a great sportsman and loves the outdoors, as I do. This summer we've been going to his hunting camp, always taking the other girl along. We've broiled steaks in the open, hiked over the deer trails, and had a wonderful time just being pals.

A few weeks ago we were on one of these trips when a business friend came from out of town and tried to reach him at his home. His wife tried to locate him at his club; failed of course, and when he got home there was war. His wife doesn't even suspect there's another woman in the case, but she objects to his taking a drink, and she blamed his absence on that. (He has never been drunk in his life.)

Well, we both knew things couldn't go on as they had been, and long ago we'd agreed that, when the crisis came, we'd give one another up.

WIFE'S FORGIVENESS COMPLICATES THINGS

This, obviously, was the time to hold to our agreement. We decided to have one last time together and talk things over. I wouldn't let him talk about our parting, but when he said good night I handed him a note which was a definite farewell. Early the next morning he called me up and begged me not to leave him, because his happiness depended upon me. He simply seems to have gone to pieces and, to make matters worse, his wife believes his condition is caused by remorse over her anger, so she's forgiven him everything. He always seemed so strong and sure of himself. I don't know what to think. I'm sure he loves me deeply as I do him, but we can't go on like this and we can't do anything about it.

Our affair is strictly platonic. I'm so worried about him. He must not lose interest in the things he's worked so hard to gain, yet he insists that now they come after his love. Divorce is out of the question, as neither of us has tangible grounds. I'm willing to do anything reasonable to straighten things out. I've thought of going away and have suggested it to him, but I know now he'd only try to find me and so complicate matters.

What do people do when they get themselves in such messes? I'd be glad to sacrifice my life for his welfare, but I guess even that wouldn't help now. What can we do?—Distracted.

Answer: Stop seeing one another for a few weeks until your nerves stop throbbing and you can control your emotions. Your problem was not developed in a day, and it can not be solved in a day. Time, courage and uncompromising honesty with yourselves and those involved in the situation will be necessary for a sane and sane solution.

BEWARE THE GREEKS

I am passionately fond of statistics, both vital and frivolous. Among the numberless things that I would like to know is this: How many times during a day is the plaintive wail, "I guessed wrong," uttered by contract players scattered over the face of the globe? And my burning curiosity would next be directed to the question: Of these "unfortunate guesses," how many really were necessary? It has been my own experience that the phrase is used about ten times too often.

Today's hand is just another instance of a bad play that was glossed over by the declarer as "a bad guess."

East's original bid was skimpy, the two and one-half outside tricks hardly could compensate for his miserable club suit.

West opened the club queen. Declarer won, and promptly ruffed his low club in dummy. He then took the spade finesse, through East capturing the king, and ran off the entire spade suit except for one card. With six cards left in each hand he led a small diamond toward the dummy. West played low, and East captured the jack with the ace. After which East returned a low club. Declarer was delighted with this lead; he had been wondering how to manoeuvre so as to be able to finesse against the missing jack of clubs, and here was East "dropping the chance in his lap."

His dismay when the ten of clubs was captured by the jack from West's hand had to be seen to be appreciated. When he learned, as he did almost immediately, that the jack could have been felled by the king play, he was not nearly so pleased, but he comforted himself somewhat with the announcement that it had been "just a guess."

His partner disagreed emphatically, and was quite correct to do so. As he pointed out, East could not have been in a position where a club lead was forced. He had to have a card of exit. That he had chosen to lead a club was proof positive that he did not fear a finesse in the suit against himself, that, on the contrary, the club lead had been made to lure the declarer into a losing finesse. This was flawless reasoning.

East, of course, could have exited with a heart or a diamond, but he realized that either of these plays eventually would force the declarer to lead clubs from his own hand. If West had the jack it must be blank at this stage and would drop. The only way to avoid this would be to present declarer with the seemingly heaven sent opportunity of finessing a ♠. Obviously, if East really had the protected club jack he would not have led the suit and the contract could not have been made.

TWAS POLICE JOB

—INVERSOLE, Ont. O—A skunk invaded the boiler-room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church here and became a civic problem. Church officials called the fire department, who referred them to police, who passed the buck to the sanitary engineer. Finally constables drew lot, and the loser was Constable George Sharpe, who crept up warily and dispatched the skunk with two shots.

DESCRIBES NEW QUEBEC BRIDGE

P. L. Pratley, Montreal, Addresses Local Branch of Engineering Institute

A description of the construction and erection of the island of Orleans Bridge, crossing the north channel of the St. Lawrence River, which separates the island from the mainland, was given by P. L. Pratley, M.E.I.C., Montreal, before a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Engineering Institute held Wednesday night in the Y.W.C.A.

Monsarrat & Pratley, engineers, were appointed consulting engineers for the design and execution of the works, comprising the central portion of the highway suspension bridge that has a central span of 1,059 feet and a total length of 6,000 feet.

Spanning the north branch of the St. Lawrence river, this highway bridge provides the only means of continuous communication between the island of Orleans and the mainland.

Mr. Pratley said that it connects the coast road of the island with the lower Quebec road near Montmorency Village. The bridge was built by the Quebec Government as part of a programme of public works undertaken as a measure for unemployment relief, and for this reason, the construction was not hurried, but was spread over a period of four years, from 1931 to 1935, being opened early last July.

LONG APPROACHES
"The bridge works consist of two long approaches over shallow water and the main channel crossing. The Federal Department of Marine required the maintenance of an unobstructed fairway of 600 feet wide with a maximum clearance of 106 feet above high water; and an exhaustive investigation of the merits of different styles of structure led to the adoption of the suspension type as being the best adapted for economy, foundation conditions, simplicity of erection and a good appearance."

The anchor piers presented unusual problems in both design and execution, the speaker explained. These piers, in order to provide adequate sliding resistance to the cable pulls and to avoid heavy toe pressures, are very massive and are considerably larger in plan than the other piers. They are hexagonal in shape, with over-all dimensions of ninety-four feet transversely and sixty-feet longitudinally with the bridge.

WELL LIGHTED
Speaking of the superstructure of the central part of the bridge, Mr. Pratley stated it consists of a central span of 1,059 feet and two suspended side-spans of 147 feet six inches each. The two main cables, ten inches in diameter and spaced at thirty-one inches, are carried on two towers which rise to a height of 220 feet above the pier masonry, and on two rockers at the ends of the side-spans. The cables are 2,468 feet long between anchorages.

"The bridge roadway is lighted throughout with electric light units spaced 150 feet apart on either side," the engineer said. "Navigation lights, operating on independent circuits, were installed to meet the requirements of the Federal Department of Marine."

The chairman of the relief committee acknowledges the following contributions of cash, clothing, furniture, provisions, etc., received by the relief clothing department during October:
